Philip Seymour Hoffman, a great American actor, left us all too soon. At age 46, he died of an apparent drug overdose. While many mourn the loss of one of cinemas best, let us examine his life, and as his friend Aaron Sorkin said, learn from his mistakes.